Five co-eds will vie for the title of Honorary Lieut. Colonel Friday in campus-wide voting. The winner will receive her commission at the annual Military Ball Friday night.

Candidates are: Barbara Ilvonen, a junior; Mary Lou Hughes, Nancy Moorhead, Patricia Wade, and Ellen Wedge, all sophomores.

Voting, which is open to the entire student body, will be held in the main lobby of the Memorial Union from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Students voting for honorary Lieut. Colonel on Friday should bring their ID Cards. Cards are required and will be punched.

Mel Tukey's fourteen-piece orchestra will furnish music for the Ball, to be held in the Memorial Gym from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Corsages for the formal affair are optional.

The Lieut. Colonel ceremony will take place at the Ball. A sabre arch will be formed and candidates will be escorted to the stage by members of "D" Company 2nd Regiment, Scabbard and Blade, the sponsoring organization.

Last year's Honorary Colonel, Kay Fletcher, will be escorted by Peter Standley, Captain of "D" Company. Col. Curtis D. Renfro, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, will present a cup to the winner. Miss Fletcher will present her with a bouquet. The grand march will be led by Standley. (Continued on Page Three)

President Hauck Dinner Speaker

Members of the General Student Senate and leaders of other campus organizations were the guests of Pres. Arthur A. Hauck at a banquet Sunday evening in Estabrooke Hall.

Following the dinner the president outlined his current budget request to the Legislature, growth and anticipated growth of the University, and explained the financial set-up of the state college. He illustrated his talk with numerous graphs and charts.

In a letter of invitation Dr. Hauck stated the reason for the gathering was to afford him the opportunity of meeting with student leaders to discuss campus problems with him.

Schedule Report Given

Union Gets Assistant Director

Miss Helen M. Philbrook of Augusta has been named assistant to the director of the Memorial Union Building, according to an announcement by the University.

Miss Philbrook has served for the past two years as social secretary and hostess at the Blaine House in Augusta for Gov. and Mrs. Burton M. Cross. She will begin her new duties on campus Feb. 1.

A native of Shelburne, N. H., Miss Philbrook prepared for college at Gould Academy in Bethel and was graduated from the University of Maine in 1939 with a B.S. degree in home economics.

She served as a food supervisor in the Pentagon Building from 1943-44, dietitian at the University of Maine from 1944-45, and dietitian at Maine Central Institute from 1946-52.

In her new position, she will serve as an assistant to Nelson B. Jones, director of the Memorial Union Building.

As an undergraduate at Maine, Miss Philbrook was active in extracurricular activities. She was a member of the Sophomore Eagles, Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Pack and Pine. In addition, she took part in women's athletics and was a member of the general student senate and women's student government association.

New York Military Editor Lecture Series Speaker Tonight

Hanson W. Baldwin, Military Editor of The New York Times, is speaking tonight at 8 in the Women's Gymnasium under the auspices of the University-Community Lecture Series.

Pres. Arthur A. Hauck will introduce Baldwin, the second speaker in this year's lecture series. No admission will be charged.

Baldwin first cultivated his practiced eye for military analysis at Annapolis from which he graduated in 1924.

With Times Since 1929

His first contact with the newspaper world was on the Baltimore Sun. He joined the New York Times in 1929 and since 1937 he has been reporting and explaining military matters.

Appointed the Times Military Editor in 1942, Baldwin covered the battle areas of the South Pacific, North Africa, England and France. His articles from the South Pacific won him the Pulitzer Prize in 1943.

Since the war, Baldwin has covered almost every important military maneuver and has made extensive cross-country tours of military posts, including guided missile and rocket firing installations.

A close observer of the atomic bomb for many years, Baldwin analyzes it in terms of its non-military, as well as its military, repercussions. During the Korean War, he made extensive inspection trips to Korea, Japan, Indo-China, Formosa and Hong Kong.

Not merely a military columnist, Baldwin has gained fame in several other media as well. He is author or editor of eleven books, including "The Price of Power," "Great Mistakes of the War," and "Power and Politics—the Price of Security in the Atomic Age." He has edited motion picture shorts, formerly a radio commentator on a weekly program, and appears frequently as a guest authority on such shows as "Town Meeting of the Air."

The University of Syracuse School of Journalism awarded him the distinguished service medal in 1944 and he received an honorary degree from Drake University in 1945.

Woman Pastor Answers Query 'What Is Love?'

BY BEVE FOWLIE

Margaret Henricksen, author of "Seven Steeples," and pastor of seven small congregations on the coast of Maine, was the speaker at the Women's Student Government Association assembly Tuesday morning.

In her inspiring talk, Mrs. Henricksen answered the universal question "But how do I know I'm in love? How can I be sure it is the real thing?"

Unselfishness Is Answer

Her answer: "If your love toward someone else makes you more unselfish, more nearly ready to reach out and broaden yourself and those around you, then you can trust it. If it turns you toward yourself, then you know that you are probably in love with love."

The future of our generation, she says, is more uncertain than any other generation before us. Every moment has value. The days of the past are not like so much water down the drain. Every day which you experience is building toward eternity... What is eternity?... Who knows?

"What is my purpose if I live and build toward that which I do not know?" These questions face us all.

Faith Is Answer

Good Will Collects $2,383

The 1954 Good Will Chest Drive resulted in the collection of $2,383.10 for charities, Delano Boutin, president of the board of governors, announced today.

This figure represents 95.6 per cent of the Drive's $2,500 goal. The Drive ended January 7.

Student giving was down, Boutin reported. Only 58 per cent of the students gave to Good Will this year as compared to 62 per cent last year.

Students gave $1,654.10 this year. Organizations gave $175. Faculty con-

BY JOE RIGO

Discontinuance of all interruptions of scheduled classes and introduction of a five day week are two suggestions made to the Faculty Council's committee studying non-academic infringements of the class schedule.

The committee report, delivered at Monday's Council meeting, listed four recommendations that had been most often mentioned to it in more than 81 letters from about 100 faculty members.

List Recommendations

1. "Non-academic activities should not be taken from class time."

2. "There should be a five day week." An extremely popular suggestion, this was often accompanied by recommendations that all non-academic activities should come on Saturday, the report states.

3. "There should be an equal number of each of the days of the week in a given semester." This was particularly urged by laboratory instructors who have at least one class fall behind others when something like Maine Day causes a day's classes to be cancelled.

4. "There should be no assemblies during class time involving only part of the student body." This would eliminate class assemblies, women's assemblies, and others which cause large portions of classes to be absent.

Dr. Himy B. Kirshen, committee chairman, stressed these were not yet recommendations of the committee but only suggestions made to it by the faculty. No action was taken by the Council other than accepting the report.

Other suggestions made, but less often than the above four, include stopping the practice of dismissing students early before vacations for travel time, adoption of a 15-week semester, and, by a few, dropping the whole investigation as unnecessary.

Studying Suggestions

The committee will now study these recommendations and prepare suggestions for next month's Council meeting, Kirshen said.

Long On Make-Up, Short On Hair, U. S. Women Still Attractive, Says Pakistan Student At Maine

BY SHELLEY HYMAN

"American girls wear too much make-up."

This opinion comes from Abdul Bari Awan, a foreign student from Karachi, Pakistan.

During a very interesting interview with this charming Pakistani student, he told us he believes the women of our country spoil their natural beauty by wearing so much make-up. He also feels that by short haircuts the women lose their femininity.

But on the whole Bari thinks American women, compared with women from Pakistan, are more attractive.

More Aggressive

We were amused to learn during the interview that Pakistani women are quite aggressive. In fact, much more so than their American counterparts. For example, Bari said, all the front seats in busses are reserved for women and if men are sitting when all the seats are filled, they are forced to give up their places for women. Pakistani women do the asking when they want dates, too.

Bari is a graduate of the University of Sind in Pakistan. Finishing second in his class he received a bachelor of science degree in 1952.

From there Bari went to work for an American firm in Arabia where his American employer stimulated his interest in graduate work at an American university.

The Pakistan youth applied for a scholarship, received it and is now taking agronomy here.

Universities Differ Greatly

The differences between the University of Sind and Maine are amazing, Bari states. For instance, Sind has no campus. In fact, the colleges of the university are located in different cities. Bari tells us that the rules are very strict for men and women alike. Every student must be in his room by 9 p.m. Study hours are between 9 and 11 at night, after which the lights go out.

Students at Sind attend classes on Sunday, but have Fridays off. Late permission can be taken only on Thursday evenings.

Sind's library is small and inadequate, Bari reports. He also says students there have no choice of subjects. Flunking one course means repeating a whole year of study.

"Americans Live Too Fast"

"The living here is too fast," says Bari. He feels there is not enough time to take it easy and relax at the pace which Americans live.

He believes that the American student has too much. At Sind the students are not permitted to own cars. There is no social life there and little else to do but study.

But Bari feels America has a lot more to offer a youth in the way of a better living and has more opportunities.

With no immediate plans for the future, Bari would like to remain in America as long as possible.

Legislative Intern Program Stated

A chance for a few students to attend state legislative sessions, committee hearings and work with legislators is being offered by the Maine Citizenship Clearing House, according to an announcement by Prof. Gerald J. Grady of the History and Government Department.

The Clearing House is sponsoring several legislative interns at the 1955 session of the Maine Legislature, Prof. Grady said.

One or two students from each of the four Maine colleges will attend sessions, committee hearings, and work with legislators as well as complete a project under the supervision of the instructor, Prof. Grady said.

All expenses will be paid by the Citizenship Clearing House, a national organization attempting to interest college students in politics.

University students who are interested in these legislative internships may apply in Prof. Grady's office, 110 Stevens, before Saturday, Jan. 15.

The University of Maine is located on an island surrounded by the Penobscot and Stillwater Rivers.

Christmas Decorating Prize Won By Colvin

First prize in a Christmas decorating contest for women's dormitories has been awarded to Colvin Hall. Honorable mention went to West Chadbourne Hall.

The contest was sponsored by the Women's Student Government Association, and the social chairmen for the dormitories served as the committee in charge.

Judges were Professor Vincent A. Hartgen, Professor Robert M. York, Professor Marguerite R. Musgrave, Margaret O'Hearon, Bangor, and Lois M. Babkirk, Old Town.

The decorations were judged on originality, artistic quality, uniformity, simplicity, and permanency. The Colvin Hall decorations were in the form of carolers singing at the window, while those at West Chadbourne Hall were on the theme of Santa's workshop.

Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, is the guest lecturer at the University-Community Lecture Series tonight in the Women's Gym. (Story on page one.)

Maine Canterbury At Mass. Conclave

Eleven members of the University of Maine Canterbury Association will attend the annual New England Regional Conference of Canterbury Clubs in Whitinsville, Mass., this week end.

The group will leave the Maine campus Friday noon and return Sunday. Accompanying them will be Miss Elizabeth Reid of the University staff.

Delegates will be club president Reginald Bowden and Steve Hay Hyatt. Alternates will be John Burnham and Jane Edwards. Others attending will be Joanne Owen, Barbara Kelly, Karlene Graham, Elizabeth Rand, Sally Carroll, Peter Burbank, Franklin Weston, and William Stone.

Pollsters List Favorite Plays

"The Moon is Blue" and "Pier Gynt" were the two top choices of the campus community for productions to be presented by the Maine Masque Theatre next semester.

At a recent meeting of the Maine Masque Theatre Council, Prof. Herschel Bricker announced the results of the recent polling of season ticket holders, Masque members, theatre, Art and English majors.

Prof. Bricker expressed the desire to produce the two plays next semester if they can be cast. "The Moon is Blue" is a successful Broadway comedy, while "Pier Gynt" would serve as a balance on the program for the year. The latter would probably be the Masque's largest production of the year, if presented. The script calls for dancing, music, stylization, and a large cast.

Tryouts for both plays will be held Feb. 7, 8, and 9 in the Little Theatre. Bricker urges students to try out.

Sophomore Class Dues Raised To $5

The Sophomore Class Executive Board raised its class dues to $5 for the next semester, an increase of one dollar over last year, according to a report issued this week.

The board said it needed the increased assessment to promote more and varied class activities, and to strengthen its reserve fund.

Eben Degrasse was named committee chairman for the Sophomore Hop.

Committee heads include John Edgar, dance band; Norm Blais, tickets; Jane Caton and Wes English, decorations; Claudette Halle, refreshments; Paul Taiganides, invitations, and James Nicklas and Margaretmary McCann, publicity.

Let's Exchange Professors

Just about a year ago a plan was suggested in various places about campus to set up an exchange speaker system of professors with other Maine and New England colleges.

Under it, faculty members from other colleges, primarily in Maine, would come to Orono to address classes or an assembly in return for one of our teachers visiting his college similarly.

At that time the plan sounded very good to us, and it still does.

Almost invariably individual instructors develop specialties in certain areas of a given subject. These specialties are many and few colleges could be expected to have all of them represented on its faculty.

It is to hear ideas in this line that we pay good fees to get assembly speakers.

A visiting speaker under the suggested plan might address his exchange speaker's classes, a whole department meeting, or a school assembly in certain cases.

Expenses would be limited to transportation and a reasonable fee for the speaker. Most departments could not afford even this on a large scale, but even one exchange speaker a year would help give a more rounded treatment of almost any subject being taught at the University.

This idea was proposed about a year ago. We have heard little more about it, favorable or not, and we wonder why. It looks good from here.

Clear The Snow

A source of complaints about campus recently is the snow on the Library steps.

The trouble is, on the rounded edges of the steps just a little snow can throw a lot of weight.

These steps are obviously dangerous at this time of year, and it would be well worth any added effort to have them kept better cleared.

Look At The Concert Series

Tuesday Isaac Stern played magnificently to about 1,200 people on campus, less than enough to fill half the gym.

Virtually all 1,200, though, were enthusiastic in their praise for the University Concert Series which brought him here.

Yet about 2,000 students and faculty remained home—most of them just not interested in hearing a concert violinist.

The question arises, should the Concert Series Committee continue to book programs with only limited appeal, or should it strive for attractions guaranteed to pack the gym?

This matter is particularly acute since the series is financially limited to about only three outside attractions annually.

There are strong arguments on both sides.

This year furnishes a good example of what can happen when a combination is tried.

Isaac Stern was greatly appreciated by those attending. John Scott, appearing earlier this year, was an appeal to the masses and failed to send almost anyone away loudly praising the evening's entertainment.

One thing that must be considered, of course, is that all students are forced to support the series through the one dollar annual fee.

We are not going to try to answer the question here, but the Concert Series Committee should study the problem (if it has not already) and announce publicly its policy on the subject as soon as possible.

Campus Is Your Paper

The Campus wants your opinions.
What stories did you read in this issue?
What features do you particularly like?
What would you like to see added?

It is questions like these that the editors try to consider when preparing each issue, but no one can guess right every time.

You must have some ideas on the subject. Send them to the Campus. Even if you only want to mention your likes and dislikes, the paper would like to hear from you.

Finals System Has Room For Improvement

BY BRUCE COURTNEY

Final exams are only two weeks away. Another semester is about gone. Thank Heavens!

Last year around this time, we suggested an idea on the giving of finals. Not a murmur was heard as to the soundness of that idea.

We suggested that "an out-of-class written assignment where the student elaborates the main topic of the course" be used for a final exam.

We didn't quite expect all of the faculty to jump overboard with the idea. But on the other hand, according to our information, not one of them has put this idea to work.

There are some courses where this idea is used in place of the final. But that was going on long before we mentioned our brain child.

The field is unlimited for this type of final. Especially in the College of Arts and Sciences.

In our mind, an exam always seems to test how much one can remember from the night before. And then with only a few hours sleep, he tumbles into his seat to take his exam. Not the best of conditions to take any kind of test, final or other.

To any instructor who does not believe that this last-minute studying is being done in more cases than not, we can only have pity for him. Because that person should never have entered the teaching profession.

An out-of-class written assignment would not test the memory of last-minute studying. Such an assignment would tend to show what the student has gotten out of the course. A modern college should have modern ideas.

Of course there are those instructors who never give credit to the student as having an idea of his own. Only the experienced writer can twist his words around to imply something else. Never a student.

Any time a student has a good instructor in a course, we believe that he should take as many courses as possible from that same instructor. We also believe that many of the instructors do not make up their exams properly.

Take the exam question "Describe briefly..." Does it mean to describe adequately? If it does, why do instructors insist on putting in the word "briefly"? To us, briefly means just that: "briefly."

Final exams are an over-emphasized affair. There is too much stress placed on the student and the instructor for the result. The exam does not necessarily show the true result of the student taking the course.

There are perhaps many ways to determine the result of the course taken by the student. We have offered one, an out-of-class written assignment. Perhaps this idea may not be the best but it is certainly not the worst. And in our opinion a much better system than the one now in effect.

Winter Fashions Trouble

To the Editor:

It is the considered opinion of the undersigned that the average female student on campus during the recent intermittent snow flurries had never before had occasion to experience the milder aspects of the winter season.

We have come to this conclusion after witnessing the unattractive and unsuitable attire worn by our charming U. of M. coeds on said occasions. Not that these average coeds might ever be confused with a Vogue mannequin, but is there any reason why they must disguise themselves as lumberjacks by wearing baggy ski pants, lumberman's boots, and shapeless parkas? No self-respecting eskimo would ever allow herself to be seen outside her igloo draped in such unfeminine garments.

Please, ladies, this is, after all, the temperate zone of the United States, not the arctic regions of Siberia as you would have us believe.

WSGA Considers Rule Change In Officer Nominating Procedure

A revision of the nominating procedure for officers of the Women's Student Government Association was discussed at a recent Council meeting.

Several possible remedies were proposed, and the dormitory representatives will take these ideas back to the women students for discussion.

Ideas proposed by the Council included:

1. One Council member from each class and a representative from each dormitory to serve on a nominating committee.

2. That the dormitories suggest their candidates for office directly and that the Council draw up a final list from that submitted by the dormitories.

3. A nominating committee drawn up the same as stated in the Blue Book—one Council and one off-council member from each class.

This issue will be considered at a future meeting.

Members of the Council were informed that they may attend the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students conference April 6-10. The conference will be held at the University of Kansas.

Any Council member who is interested and who feels that she can provide a portion of the expenses may attend.

Other business on the agenda included a brief discussion of the Blue Book Revisions and the Senior Watch Award.

Faculty Studies Class Problems

This committee was appointed earlier this year to study interruptions after complaints were made by some faculty members that things were possibly going too far.

In other business Monday, the Council set up a clearing committee through which all University publications must be cleared before being printed or mimeographed.

Excludes Student Publications

This does not affect student publications such as the Campus, the Prism, and various student activity handbooks.

Also excepted are publications of the Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service, Technology Experiment Station, Department of Industrial Cooperation and papers included in the Maine Studies series.

Chief purpose of this ruling is to prevent duplication of coverage by departments in different colleges which prepare booklets on similar subjects, Charles E. Crossland, committee chairman, stated.

All University publications covered by this rule will pass through a committee of the academic deans and go to the Publicity Office for processing. This office already does much work in this line, Crossland said.

Also suggested on this subject at the meeting but referred to committee were plans to publish annually a list of University publications to come in the next year and establishment of a central publishing fund to eliminate necessity of departments including such items in their budgets.

Winter Carnival Ball Orchestra Announced

Hartgen Is Author Of Feature On Art

Prof. Vincent A. Hartgen, head of the Art Department, is the author of an article entitled "The Watercolors of Vincent Hartgen" in the current issues of Pen and Brush and Today's Art, both well-known art magazines.

The Maine professor is scheduled to do other articles on pastel, crayon, pen and ink, and other techniques, using the Maine scene for a setting.

In his current article, Prof. Hartgen explains in detail how he goes about creating one of his watercolors.

He says, "For myself, I am not interested in making a visual duplication of the objects in the Maine scene. I find its emotions and moods far more inspiring. Therefore, my whole method centers around a sympathy for the freshest, most spontaneous, and vibrant impressions."

Prof. Hartgen goes on to explain each step in the creation of one of his paintings, including several special techniques which he uses to gain unusual effects.

He concludes his articles by stating, "To me, a painting is finished only when it cries back at me the emotion and inspiration I experienced when making the original sketches on the scene. Then, and only then, is it a work of art."

Scabbard And Blade Society Formed At University In 1916

"D" Company, Second Regiment, of the National Society of the Scabbard and Blade has been on the Maine campus since May 20, 1916, and today is one of the leading organizations here.

The Society was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1904-05 and since has seen many colleges and universities establish chapters.

Maintains Standards

The purpose of the organization is to maintain and to raise military standards in American higher education.

Panhell Council Sets Open Bidding Dates

The Panhellenic Council announced this week that open bidding will extend from Tuesday, Jan. 11, to 10 p.m. Tuesday, March 1. All freshman and upperclass women may be bid regardless of whether they registered for the formal rushing period.

Open bidding accords to any sorority chapter, which has not reached its membership quota, the privilege of issuing open bids to any girl eligible under Panhellenic rules.

This system eliminates informal rushing procedures which have been used in the past years, the Council said.

Freshmen Will Pay $5 Dues Next Semester

The Executive Board of the Freshman class has announced that its class dues will be $5.00 and the amount will be added to the second semester bill.

Freshman Executive Board members this year are Eleanor Deane, West Chadbourne; Ann Rosenberger, East Chadbourne; Richard Salisbury, North Dorms; Stanley Hanson, Dunn Hall; William Farley, South Apartments; Judith Murray, West Chadbourne; Herbert Carmichael, Cabins; and John Lymburner, Corbett Hall.

Maine members are chosen from among students enrolled in the R.O.T.C. Advanced Course. All new members are elected.

The University of Maine installed "D" Company when interest in military training was at its height. This interest was due to World War I. After the war interest waned and the Society almost died, but was revived in 1921.

On January 14 the Scabbard and Blade will present its annual Military Ball at the Memorial Gym. The Ball is one of the highlights of the social season and includes the election of the new honorary lieutenant-colonel.

Last Sunday Scabbard and Blade was honored on the Campus-WGUY weekly radio show, "Bangor Bandstand Salutes the University of Maine."

100 Students Attend Newman Conference

Over 100 students attended the regional conference of Newman Clubs at the University last week end.

Members of Newman Clubs at Bates College, Bowdoin College, Colby College, Farmington State Teachers College, and Gorham State Teachers College were invited. A group of club members from Dartmouth College were special guests at the Maine conference.

Panel discussions were held during the morning program. Delegates from Bates College led a discussion on "What Is An Educated Man?"; delegates from Bowdoin College led a discussion on "Religion versus Science"; University of Maine, "The Educational Phase of the Newman Clubs"; and Farmington State Teachers College, "The Catholic Teacher in the Community."

Prof. Paul Fullam, of Colby College, was the featured speaker at the luncheon in North Estabrooke Hall.

At the afternoon session, Colby College delegates led a discussion on "The Catholic Student on the College Campus."

Following intermission Mr. Stern played Prokofiev's brilliant "Sonata" in F minor, the Mozart-Kreisler "Rondo," the "Fontaine d'Arethuse" by Szymanowski, and Paganini's "Campanella."

Flying to Maine from Iceland to keep his concert engagement, the artist was well received and was called back for several encores.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"Always something new"

"Different types of work appeal to different men," says Donald O'Brian (A.B., Indiana, '50), in the Traffic Department with Indiana Bell Telephone Company. "For me, I'll take a job that keeps me hopping. And that's just the kind of job I have."

"You'd think that after two years I'd have all the variables pinned down. But it doesn't work that way. When you supervise telephone service for thousands of different customers whose needs are always changing, there's always something new coming up.

"I started with Indiana Bell in 1952, after two years in the Army. My training program exposed me to many different kinds of telephone work—customer contact, personnel, accounting, operations. I saw a lot of jobs which looked as interesting as mine. As much as I like the kind of work I'm doing now, I bet I'll like my next spot even better."

Don's enthusiasm for his job is pretty typical of how most young college men feel about their telephone careers. Perhaps you'd be interested in a similar opportunity with a Bell Telephone operating company, such as Indiana Bell... or with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric or Sandia Corporation. # Maine Seeks Second Victory Against Bowdoin Here

This trio of varsity eagers will be depended on heavily Saturday afternoon when Coach Russ DeVette's Black Bears tangle with Bowdoin on Memorial Gym floor. Left to right, Pete Kostacopoulos, Thurlow Cooper and John Dana have seen plenty of action in games played so far this season. Kostacopoulos and Cooper are sophomores, while Dana is a senior.

Polar Bears Rated Even With Rejuvenated Maine

Coach Russ DeVette's University of Maine's varsity basketball team will be looking for their second victory of the season this Saturday afternoon when they entertain Bowdoin's Polar Bears in a 4 o'clock game at Memorial Gym.

Maine's only victory this season was at the expense of the invading Brunswick club when they edged Bowdoin in a 56-55 thriller at Brunswick on Dec. 15. DeVette's club has a 1-3 State Series record as of now and needs a victory over the Polar Bears to keep one step out of the cellar.

The last game played between these two clubs in 1954 was a dilly. The Black Bears roared back from a third period deficit to cop a thrilling 72-70 decision over Bowdoin to end their season on a good note.

Maine Holds Edge
Over the years since the two colleges started playing against one another in 1937, the Black Bears hold a decided edge in victories over Bowdoin. Maine has won 22 times to 12 for Bowdoin for 64.7 per cent of the victories.

The varsity showed its latent power Monday night when they forced Colby's slick court team into overtime before bowing, 74-73.

The Bears outscrapped and out-fought the taller and more experienced Mules all through the game. Colby, which has four straight State Series titles to its credit, saw its seven point advantage melt away in the closing minutes of the second half. Mike Polese finally bridged the gap with two foul shots, making it 66-66 and sending the game into overtime.

Maine immediately fell behind in the extra five minutes, but rallied brilliantly only to fall one point shy of deadlocking the game again.

Polese came into his own Monday night, dunking 21 points through the basket. The scrappy junior, who is seeing his first real varsity action this year, was the sparkplug of the team.

Overall this season Coach DeVette's lads have a mediocre 1-6 record, and Bowdoin, although beaten already by the Black Bears, is considered as good a club as Maine.

Cramping the varsity's style this year has been its lack of any kind of offensive power and woeful inadequacy underneath the boards. The tallest man on the regular starting Maine lineup measures only 6' 2".

Huston A Threat
However, Sterling Huston, a 6' 4" sophomore, could add plenty of punch to the Black Bear offensive if he hits his stride. The towering center sparked the varsity against rugged Connecticut, tossing in 13 points. He was the only man for Maine to hit in the double figures that game.

Maine Enters Two Teams In Dartmouth Meet

Maine's varsity ski team will send two relay teams and a jumping squad to Hanover, N. H., this week end to compete in the Dartmouth Relays.

Coach Ted Curtis named Capt. Wes Scrone, one of the top collegiate cross country skiers in the nation, Wayne Libby, Bill Johnson and Frank Morgan to make up the "A" relay team. Biff Reed, Leon Akers, John Bragoli, and John Knowles comprise the "B" team.

The cross country relays will be held Sunday, while on Saturday Maine will enter Reed, Bragoli and Akers in the jumping events.

The week end competition is open to all college and amateur teams.

Curtis is pleased with the progress of the team so far this season. He said the team is taking full advantage of the excellent skiing conditions at the University slope across Stillwater River. Curtis noted that the jump there is in the finest condition it has been in several years.

Last week end Mickey Christie, a slalom and downhill man, breezed home first in the giant slalom at Bald Hill Mountain in the time of 35.1 seconds, while varsity teammate Johnson took fourth spot with a 39.5 timing.

Over the Christmas holidays Scrone carried the Pale Blue colors of Maine to a brilliant twelfth place in a field of 136 skiers at Franconia, N. H. Scrone's time was 48 minutes and 48 seconds over the rugged 7 1/2 mile course. Olympic performers Bob Pidacks and Wendall Broomhall finished less than 30 seconds ahead of the Maine ace.

Scrone took second place last week in the New York State championship cross country race.

Frosh Track Team In Saturday Meet

The Freshman track team faces South Portland High School in a dual track meet in the fieldhouse here Saturday afternoon.

Last Saturday the freshmen walloped the Bates junior varsity cindermen by a convincing 88-29 margin.

Coach Chester Jenkins calls this year's freshman team one of the most promising in several years.

Frank Beyer captured the crowd's eye at last Saturday's meet when he high jumped 5 ft.-10 1/2 inches. His leap was 3 1/2 inches better than turned in by the varsity jumpers. Beyer also took first in both hurdle events and tied for second in the pole vault.

Arnold Johnson leaped 20 ft.-5 3/4 inches in the broad jump which was almost as good as done by the varsity performers.

Jenkins Picks Out Maine Team To Compete In Yankee Relays

BY SAL SCARPATO

Bill Calkin, Joel Stinson, Paul Firlotte and one other man yet to be named will represent Maine at the Yankee Conference Relays in Boston Garden this Saturday.

Coach Chester "Chet" Jenkins said this week that Maine's chances of really doing anything spectacular in the relays are slim.

Smith Entered

Chellis Smith will also make the trip to the relays which are part of the Knights of Columbus meet program in the Garden. Smith cleared the bar at 12 feet-8 3/4 inches last week against Bates in the pole vault.

Calkin actually is the only tested Maine man in the relays. Firlotte specializes in longer distances, while Stinson is only a sophomore.

Other possibilities for the fourth spot on the team are Dick Hamblen, who has shown plenty of potential in the past, Jim Varner, an outstanding sophomore, and Scott Kelley.

Swamp Bates

The varsity track team got off to an optimistic start last Saturday, swamping Bates College, 89-37, to avenge a defeat at the hands of the Bobcats last year at Lewiston.

Calkin, Varner, Firlotte, and Bill Johnson were the top point-getters for the Pale Blue.

The summary:

Discus—1, Johnson (M); 2, Parkhurst (B); 3, Simpkins (B). Distance 125 ft. 8 1/4 in.

Frosh Hoop Team In Saturday Game Against Portland U.

Maine's Freshman basketball team plays host to Portland University in a preliminary game before the varsity-Bowdoin tilt here Saturday afternoon.

Coach Hal Woodbury's classy club will meet the down-staters starting at 2 o'clock.

The freshmen were riding high before Christmas vacation, whipping Portland Junior College by 78-42, and also soundly thrashing Maine Maritime Academy, 74-54.

Coach Woodbury hopes his charges can continue the fine brand of ball they played in December. He said the frosh were working very good as a unit and had their shooting eye.

Outstanding in games so far for the freshmen this year have been Stan Gass, former Bangor High School star, Dan Orino, a Stephens High School standout from Rumford, Bill McHardy, a Westbrook High School performer last year, and Pete Pepin.

Earlier this week the freshmen won their third victory in as many games, clipping Maine Central Institute, 77-72, Monday night.

Society: Mostly Pinnings And Engagements

BY BEVERLY FOWLIE

Winter weather with lots of snow and good cheer awaited campus activities as we all returned after Christmas vacation. This week end found students tobogganing at the Penobscot Country Club and the neighboring countryside, skiing on the campus slope and other such places, and taking pictures of familiar buildings and scenes.

The members of Phi Mu sorority held initiation ceremonies for the following new members: Margaret Myrilla Daley, Harriette Johnstone, Judy Judith Tranter, Joyce Simpson, Pamela Thompson, Sylvia Thompson.

Saturday evening the members of Sigma Chi, just to go along with the winter spirit, held a sleigh ride following a pizza supper. Later on in the evening the couples enjoyed dancing and singing around the open fireplace. Chaperons for the affair were Dr. and Mrs. Robert D. Dunlap. Robert Artesani was in charge of arrangements.

Perhaps it would be of more value to the campus as a whole to publish a list of those persons who are datable and available, but nevertheless please notice the following students who are no longer "in circulation."

STUDENTS ARE ECSTATIC about Luckies. That's the word, straight from the latest, largest college survey ever. Again, the No. 1 reason Luckies lead in colleges over all other brands, coast to coast—border to border: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. This famous Lucky Strike process tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. So be smart, like the student in the Doodle above, titled: Lucky smoker swinging in hammock. Swing to Luckies yourself. Enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

WSGA Hears Woman Pastor

The answer is Faith. To consider that your life is unimportant in the scheme of things is questioning the creator's ability to plan and establish. That is blasphemy."

The answer then is to have faith that there is something in the world meant for you alone. Have faith that you will find it.

Not only must the individual have faith but he must create that faith in others. The most successful way to do this is to use his life as a reflector, the pastor said.

WSGA Luncheon

With Mrs. Henricksen as guest of honor, the WSGA council held a luncheon in North Estabrooke followed by an open group discussion in the living room. Cynthia Nelson, president, conducted the assembly and following events.

Mrs. Henricksen was born in Plainfield, N. J. Professionally she has been a kindergarten instructor, leader of a Girl Scout troop, and an administrator of a home for girls who needed special care. After the death of her husband in 1943, she entered the ministry. She is now pastor of seven small congregations on the coast of Maine.
